Core Technologies

ConnectCore Plus

Our next-generation, low-stretch core provides a radical increase in line durability, smoothness and performance.

Building a better fly line starts at the core, and our low-stretch ConnectCore Plus provides a radical increase in line durability, coating smoothness and overall performance. ConnectCore Plus stretches 30% less than standard cores, and gives anglers all the benefits of a low-stretch core - enhanced sensitivity, less wasted energy and faster hook sets - with a significantly longer lifespan. It also allows hand stretching to easily remove memory coils for a more direct connection to fish and fly.

The highest-performing, longest-lasting freshwater lines in the world are built around ConnectCore Plus.

ELITE

ConnectCore Plus can be found in all Elite Freshwater, and select Elite Spey fly lines and heads

Coating Technologies

SlickCast

SlickCast creates the slickest, most durable coating on the market — producing the least amount of friction ever measured on a fly line. What does slick get you? For starters, line flies through the guides with higher line speeds for unprecedented and easy distance. The slick coating also allows anglers to fish more effectively as line slides out of the guides with less friction for extended drag-free drifts.

MaxFloat Tip

Tired of floating lines that sink? Fact is, the reduced coating at the narrow, tapered end of most floating lines doesn't have enough buoyancy to stay above water. MaxFloat Tip Technology floats more than twice as high as regular line tips, without any increase in diameter. That puts maximum floatation right where you need it for reduced drag, longer presentations and quieter pickups.

Multi Density Control

Multi Density Control is a combination of different density coatings along the length of a fly line. These different density coatings give anglers complete depth control when swinging a fly on a river, and perfect contact right to the fly. The exceptionally smooth, continuous blend in density changes results in extremely smooth loops while casting.

Line Features

Density Compensation adds a denser material to the thin tip of a sinking line (or sink tip), which ensures the line sinks straight - better for knowing when a fish takes the fly and for setting the hook.

Front & Back Welded Loops are neat, bulletproof loops welded on the end for fast rigging.

Easy ID is RIO's printed line marking system that allows anglers to quickly and easily identify each line.

SureFire is our exclusive, triple color marking system that improves casting accuracy by making it easy to gauge exact distances with a quick glance.

DualTone is a system perfected by RIO that marks the sweet spot of a fly line by providing an obvious color change in the line at the sweet spot.

Loading Point makes it easy to see the most efficient loading area of a Spey fly line.

- EasyID
- Front & Back Welded Loop

Elite Indicator

Example: WF6F
Overall Length: 90'

DESIGNED TO TURNOVER a wide range of indicators and fly sizes for long casts, efficient mends, and big dead drifts

- Perfect for wade fishing or anchored boat
- Turns over big indicators and heavy flies
- Low-stretch ConnectCore Plus for the best in casting control, performance and smoothness
- Built with RIO's exceptionally slick, durable SlickCast technology
- EasyID on front taper for fast line recognition

The Indicator line is designed for long casts and big dead drifts with indicator nymph rigs. Wading anglers and anglers fishing from an anchored boat can maximize their drift with this line by casting far upstream, mending as their rig drifts even with their position, then stack mending with ease as it travels far downstream. The long head allows for more efficient mending at distance while also helping stack mending techniques downstream, creating a seamless and longer natural drift. 30ft weights are roughly two AFFTA sizes heavy to make carrying and turnover of big indicators and heavy nymph rigs a breeze. Strike, Set, Game On.

The Indicator line is designed for long casts and big dead drifts with indicator nymph rigs. Wading anglers and anglers fishing from an anchored boat can maximize their drift with this line by casting far upstream, mending as their rig drifts even with their position, then mending with ease as it travels far downstream. The long head allows for more efficient mending at distance, especially when combined with the extra length of a switch rod, creating a seamless and longer natural drift. 30ft weights are selected to easily load switch rods when overhead casting and have enough mass to carry and turn over big indicator rigs. Strike, Set, Game On.

Overall Length: 100'

EASY CASTING INDICATOR LINE, with low-stretch, ultra-slick performance.

- Perfect for fishing out of a boat
- Short, easy loading head to throw all manner of indicator rigs
- Low-stretch ConnectCore Plus for the best in casting control, performance and smoothness
- Built with RIO's exceptionally slick, durable SlickCast technology
- EasyID on front taper for fast line recognition

The Xtreme Indicator line has been designed to be a very effective tool for anglers that fish nymphs and indicators out of a boat. The short head has a powerful front taper that casts indicator rigs with ease, and loads up with a single cast. Built with RIO's low-stretch ConnectCore Plus, the line allows for intuitively better cast timing, easier line lifts and sharp, precise mends. Lack of stretch also means faster reaction time when setting the hook.

24ft Sink Tip

Example: 150gr
Overall Length: 100'

THE BEST SINKING TIP fly line series, with ultra-slick performance

- Easy casting body section eliminates the characteristic "kick"
- Density Compensated tip for fly control
- Smooth casting tapers, that are easy to cast
- Built with RIO's exceptionally slick, durable SlickCast coating

A series of sinking tip lines specifically built for anglers that like a balanced casting rig. A unique, fatter body section eliminates the "kick" usually associated with casting sink tip lines; while the longer front tapers ensure the line does not dump on the forward cast. The supple floating body section allows anglers to easily mend and control the way the fly fishes, making it ideal for river anglers. Each line has a welded loop on the front end for easy rigging.

Elite Switch Chucker

Example: #7
Overall Length: 100'

DESIGNED FOR SWITCH RODS, whether for overhead or spey casting, with low-stretch, ultra-slick performance.

- Short, powerful front taper easily casts indicator rigs
- Variety of line options to cover all situations
- Low-stretch ConnectCore Plus for the best in performance and smoothness
- Built with RIO's exceptionally slick, durable SlickCast

RIO offers two types of Switch lines; a long head Switch Line, and the short, easy-loading Switch Chucker. Each line has the head and running line seamlessly integrated into each other, which avoids any loop to loop connection running through the guides. The Switch Line is the best choice for anglers that want control of the line and fly at long distance, while the Chucker is best for fishing tight in and for easy casting of big flies, sinking tips and indicator rigs. Built with RIO's ultra-low stretch ConnectCore Technology.

SHOOTING LINE SERIES

Powerflex Ultra Shooting Line

FEATURES:

- Front & Back Welded Loop

Powerflex Ultra Shooting Line

Example: .024"
Overall Length: 100'

A HARD, TOUGH COATED SHOOTING LINE which excels on the shoot

- Hard, tough coated shooting line for durability and long casts
- Powerflex Core that does not wilt and tangle
- Large Welded loop for fast, easy rigging

RIO's Powerflex Ultra Shooting Line is an excellent shooting line for anglers using Skagit or Scandi style shooting heads. It features an extremely tough outer coating, over a medium stiff Powerflex core that shoots with unbelievable ease for ultra-long casts, has greatly increased durability and ensures tangle-free performance, cast after cast. The line's ultra-slick coating floats high on the surface, allowing for reduced drag and making it easy to shoot. Bullet proof welded loops on each end make it fast and easy to rig, while the front loop is large enough to pass an entire shooting head coil through, for maximum speed and efficiency when rigging.

SPEY FLY LINES

Skagit Leader

TAPERED LEADER

The Skagit Leader is the ultimate tapered leader for delivering big, heavy flies typically used with skagit shooting head systems. Its short overall length and abrupt taper give this leader the most powerful turnover possible so none of the energy generated during the cast is sacrificed in the final few feet. While leaders of level tippet are commonly used with skagit heads, the hinging effect they generate hampers turnover of bulky patterns. The Skagit Leader eliminates this effect for the smoothest delivery of the heaviest flies out there.

Skagit MOW Tips

POWERFUL LEVEL TIPS designed to cast the biggest flies with ease.

These tips allow anglers using Skagit lines to cover every likely fishing situation and conditions encountered, and are the absolute ultimate in sinking tip versatility.

The Extra Heavy MOW Tips are the heaviest of the MOW series; built with T-17 for the sinking section and with a sink rate of nearly 10" per second, it really gets down when depth is needed. Each of the tips either have a gray floating section, or a gray loop for easy identification. These tips are ideal on the heavier Skagit lines of 675 grains and more.

The Heavy MOW Tips feature T-14, with a sink rate of 9" per second, for the sinking material. Each of these tips has either a light blue floating section or a blue sleeve on one end for easy identification. The Heavy MOW Tips are designed for the heaviest of flies and are ideal for Skagit lines of 575 grains and more. There are six unique tips that make up the series.

The Medium MOW Tips feature T-11, with a sink rate of 8" per second, for the sinking material. Each of these tips has either a light green floating section or a green sleeve on one end for easy identification. The Medium MOW Tips are designed for heavily weighted flies and are ideal for Skagit lines between 475 and 575 grains. There are six unique tips that make up the series.

The Light MOW Tips feature T-8, with a sink rate of 7" per second, for the sinking material. Each of these tips has either a white floating section or a white sleeve on one end for easy identification. The Light MOW Tips are designed for lightly weighted flies and are ideal for Skagit lines of 475 grains and less. There are six unique tips that make up the series.

With floating based MOW tip

With intermediate based iMOW tip

RIO's iMOW tips have an intermediate section, instead of a floating, which creates a smooth depth transition between a floating body and fast sinking tip, and perfect contact between the angler and the fly, they are also the ideal tip for intermediate based Skagit heads, like RIO's iFlight. There are three weight series (Light, Medium and Heavy) and four tips within each series, as well as a complete kit with all 4 tips of a series packaged in a RIO leader wallet.

Light iMOW tips feature T-8 for a sinking section (with a sink rate of about 7" per second) and are most suitable for Skagit lines of 475 grains and less.

Medium iMOW tips feature T-11 for a sinking section (with a sink rate of about 8" per second) and are most suitable for Skagit lines between 475 and 575 grains.

Heavy iMOW tips feature T-14 for a sinking section (with a sink rate of about 9" per second) and are most suitable for Skagit heads of 575 grains and heavier.

Signature Tyer

RIO's Signature Tyer

Continuing to expand our commitment to innovative and effective fly design, RIO Products is introducing RIO Signature Tyer. Innovative, expert tyers that continually set the bar for new patterns that can only be found at RIO products. Our initial offering sets the stage for the quality and expertise you can expect from RIO Signature Tyers in the future.

Hogan Brown

I grew up on the Lower Yuba River in Northern California, as an only child living on 20 acres. Recreational activities were not a plenty and “friends” were a ride from mom or dad away. I developed a penchant for solitary activities pretty early on: fly fishing and playing guitar. As a teen, I worked at the local fly shop in Nevada City, CA, and figured my chances of earning a living in fly fishing were better than in a obscure indie rock band. I have been a part of the fly fishing industry ever since, but still waiting for a call from Jason Isbell to open for him or if Pavement gets back together and needs a guitarist.

I have devoted my life to the sport, guiding for trout, steelhead, bass, carp and anything that swims in a river, lake, pond, ditch or body of water I could access within the gray area of California's trespass law. I have worked in all aspects of the industry—behind fly shop counters and in lodges, ran an outfitting business and a non-profit, worked in marketing, and even a brief stint as a corporate rep. Through it all, I have remained in the trenches as a guide because in the end I like being on the water.

Hometown: Penn Valley, CA

Fly Style: : I tie nymphs cause they catch trout and small fish for bigger fish to eat— cause bass eat other fish.

In Northern California, the saying goes, "nymphing for trout is king." It's not often that Hogan Brown gets to guide his clients for dry fly eats until spring appears with March Browns. Hogan tells us he spends his entire year looking forward to this hatch, but it wasn't until an extra wet winter that Hogan needed to rely on that old saying. The river was blown and off-color, the hatch went off, but the trout weren't willing to eat on top. So he relentlessly studied natural march brown nymphs and developed the perfect antidote—RIO Hogan's Clinger.

Fish it as a March Brown, Spring Drakes, or size down for the perfect PMD imitation.

Step aside, there's a new kid in your fly box—RIO's Hogan Golden Child. A more realistic version of its sibling, the Red Headed Step Child. Fly Designer Hogan Brown trimmed down the silhouette to match that of small mayflies and added a flashy gold bead to sustain the positive elements of the Red Headed Step Child fly. Fish it down deep, or as a dropper, the Golden child lives up to its name.

Part of being an exceptional fly creator means designing flies that are meant for you and your fly box only. That's precisely how RIO's signature tyer, Hogan Brown, dreamt up the S&M Nymph—possibly the best baetis and PMD patterns around. Its popularity got Hogan dreaming again. He wanted to give trout something new to consider, so a handful of tweaks later, Hogan turned to his little friend, RIO's Hogan Li'l Amigo, to get the job done when nothing else seems to be working.

RIO's Hogan RH Step Child comes with the silhouette of a petite mayfly nymph with one extra detail, attention-grabbing attractor elements that are proven, fish catchers.

"When I was a young guide on the Lower Trinity River, I worked for a legendary guide that I would never dare fish in front of. While I learned a ton watching him and guiding behind him, the downside was fish would not eat a red copper john during the mayfly hatches for me as they would him. So, I had to innovate and take elements of an attractor like the copper john that I knew the fish wanted or liked with a more accurate silhouette of the bugs they were eating – small baetis and early PMD, or small green drake nymphs. In the end, my pattern proved to be more effective, and I am forever grateful for that learning experience as it made me into a better fly designer." Hogan Brown

Hogan Brown is a busy guy, a professional fly-fishing guide and fly tyer; he doesn't have time for one-trick-pony flies, which is why he designed the Short Shank Caddis. "The bead, diamond braid, and long, multi-colored, sparse dubbing are designed to create a very translucent pupa style pattern that looks great in the drift, in the film, or on the swing." By experimenting at the vise, Hogan designed one seriously dynamic caddis fly. "I just start messing around with ideas and see if they work. 95% of the time, this results in flies that look REALLY cool and make great Instagram photos but don't fish. The other 5% of the time, I find the flies come out looking like alien barf and fish like trout candy. The problem is no one looks at alien barf and thinks it will fish. This one falls in the 5% category.

It's a Mayfly... It's a Baetis... It's Hogans S&M Nymph! RIO's Signature Fly Tier, Hogan Brown, says it's "all in the details" with this little number—just like a true guide fly. "I imagined this fly when I actually started paying attention to how Baetis nymphs truly look, very different from what was in most fly bins. When I started turning over rocks on my local tailwater, I realized that most small baetis nymphs were no thicker than a hook shank. And they were definitely not cylindrical in shape. Furthermore, they had color patterns that made them darker on top than underneath, which was very different from the standard flashback pattern I was used to fishing."

Hogan keeps the materials trim, uses a darker wing case to imitate nymphs as they approach emergence, and adds just the right amount of movement and pop. Even the fussiest tailwater trout won't become hip to this nymph. Available in three new colors, Hogan personally uses the dark baetis colorway as his secret weapon when the olive becomes too familiar. Also, new this season is the Light and Rusty PMD colors. "Ascertain rivers trout prefer one color over the other, and of course, their preference can change on any given day." Take it from Hogan; having both in your box is critical.

Josh Boyles

I grew up in a family that hunted and fished, both with equal passion. I spent my earliest childhood fishing farm ponds and tidal tributaries around the Lowcountry. As a teenager, my attention drifted offshore and the big fish of the blue water became my obsession for years. After countless great experiences in the offshore world, I decided to rededicate my focus to the inshore waters I grew up on. I started running conventional inshore charters with bait and soft plastics and eventually as demand increased, fly fishing charters. Several years later, the opportunity to reopen and rebrand the local fly/tackle shop kind of fell in my lap. I started Southern Draw Outfitters, named after my guide service, with $30,000 dollars. I do not suggest trying to start any retail business with $30,000, but It's amazing what you can accomplish if you're willing to work countless hours for free and guide on the side to pay your bills. Despite all odds, myself and a group of great fishing guides / mediocre retail employees made Southern Draw a success. After eight fun years of retail adventure; I finally stopped denying the obvious, "I'm a fishing guide". That was over three years ago and here we are.

Camping in remote Baja with one of my best friends and watching an 80#+ Roosterfish with scars all over its head and a comb that rose as high as my chest “sip” my dirty mullet in inches of water. My drag malfunctioned and dumped 350+ yards of backing in less than 2 minutes. Made about 150 back while neck deep in the huge surf thinking I might have a chance - then he walked again and never stopped. I held him at my backing knot for what seemed like an eternity and then boom... off. When I completed the reel of shame, the first 8” of my fly line was chafed and I typically use a 6’ stretch of flourocarbon leader - so that tells you its size. I wasn’t sure if I should cry, scream or puke.

Gunnar Brammer

I came into fly fishing with the sole intent of finally catching a Canadian Pike! Kinda a weird, and long story, but from the very beginning I have always been after Esox on the Fly and have taken to streamer fishing as a way of life chasing literally anything that will eat some meat! I gravitated to fly tying as soon as I had a fly rod in my hand a realized I could create my own lures. The accessibility of fly tying (compared to pouring plastics, or jig molds, or carving wood plugs ect...) immediately fascinated me. Since the beginning of my fly-fishing journey (age 15) I can count the number of fish on one hand that I have caught with a commercially available fly (okay, maybe two hands, but that is no longer stretching the truth). I have ALWAYS wanted to be apart of the creative process, weather that is hyper-creativity or extreme stubbornness can be determined later, but I have been obsessed with fishing MY flies, and I am simply not willing to budge in that regard. I love chasing bad-ass fish, weather that is a brutal eat from a big Peacock Bass, or a top water blow up from a Smallmouth, or a crazy boat side eat on the Figure 8 from Monster Sized Musky – Streamer Tying and Fishing allows me to do it all and do it not only in my back yard but also all over the world without compromise.

A seriously reliable trout snack—PMD nymphs are often found in a brown hue until they mature into adults in a yellow-ish fashion. That's precisely why we added a yellow bulge to the top of the thorax. Not only does it replicate the beginning stages of emergence, but it also serves as an attractive trigger for the fish.
